ROMANIA

During recent years, Romanian cinema has experienced a spectacular re-birth with Romanian films winning prestigious awards at major film festivals. Without reminiscing too much about the past years, the second half of the last decade meant the absolute pick in terms of international success.

In 2006, Corneliu Porumboiu won the Camera d'Or for 12:08 East of Bucharest and Catalin Mitulescu (The Way I Spent the End of the World) competed in the Un Certain Regard section in Cannes. In the same year Love Sick, Tudor Giurgiu's debut film, was selected for the Panorama section of the Berlin International Film Festival.

In 2007, Cristian Mungiu's 4 Months, 3 Weeks and 2 Days won the Palme d'Or in the official competition of the Cannes International Film Festival, while Cristian Nemescu's posthumous California Dreamin' won the main prize in the Un Certain Regard section.

In 2008, Radu Muntean's third feature Boogie was selected for Directors' Fortnight section of the Cannes International Film Festival. In 2009, Police, Adjective, the new feature by Corneliu Porumboiu, received the Un Certain Regard Jury Award at Cannes.

Throughout all these years, the Romanian Films catalogue has been a through and through companion piece, crucial for a better, up-to-date understanding of our internal film production.

Without giving away too much, as far as the newest Romanian films are concerned, there are enough signs to reassure us of an almost certain continuity in terms of international and critical success and acclaim. And, as I said, the Romanian Films catalogue will be there to proudly attest and fittingly chronicle them. Consequently, for a brief but in-depth preview of all that is to come, I'm happy to invite you to turn the page...

COLD WAVES *

RĂZBOI PE CALEA UNDELOR

During the 80s, Radio Free Europe was the secret relief and confidant of its Romanian listeners. The Radio was Ceausescu's most important enemy; he even hired Carlos the Jackal to close it down. All the protagonists of this story confront themselves once more: speakers of the radio, along with terrorists, listeners as well as party and Securitate officials, Romanians, Germans, Americans and French altogether. The world has changed; there are different wars now. But if you listen to the voices, you may get a better picture.

PORTRAIT OF THE FIGHTER AS A YOUNG MAN

PORTRETUL LUPTĂTORULUI LA TINEREȚE

Right after World War 2 Romania fell under communist dictatorship. The country became a huge prison. Terror was its new rule. In those times, in the mountains of Romania – but not only there – groups of people opposed the communist regime by armed resistance. The movie shows the dramatic story of these people, who found themselves caught up in this incredible venture, worthy of respect over time. They became a symbol of the Resistance against communist rule.

Shukar Collective is a project which is by no means limited to music – it also surprises the interaction between two different cultures. The documentary shows the ups and downs, the conflicts and the successes of all those involved in the Shukar Collective project. During the film, the group faces a crisis situation – Tamango, the charismatic band leader, has suffered a stroke and he is now laying in bed, Clasic has left for Spain, where he's picking oranges, and Napoleon and Sorinel are playing, from time to time, at various weddings.

Lance Acord

Cinematographer, director, philosopher, visionary

Like any artist, working in any medium, the material you work upon is part of the creative process. And it's what I find in working with film that I truly cherish and enjoy.

"I don't consider shooting digital, unless it's supposed to look like digital."

Creative control. It's the one thing everyone in this business wants. Film gives it to me. I can push it a few stops, work through tough lighting situations, play with the processing, experiment with emulsions, and get a lot in-camera that would be difficult to duplicate in post. And it's got that look. You know, that film look. HD has its place, but I rarely spec a job where I would choose it over film.

Lance Acord refuses to compromise.
